crystal clear as glass

Check out how it looks when epoxy and wood when expertly crafted.

The most important feature of designs which are produced by using epoxy resin is its quality and formula.

In our designs, we use special specialties that are extra resistant to yellowing, provide maximum surface hardness, and have a high level of transparency and gloss.

Our special polishing formulas and techniques
As a result of our brand's R&D and keeping up-to-date production techniques based on developing technology over the years, the most accurate techniques and the best materials have been determined to make the epoxy look clear like glass and bright like crystal, not like plastic.

That is the reason of unique transparency and brightness of our products

About Olive Tree

About the most place we give in Odywood designs, olive wood

One of the common features of tree species in our world olive tree, which has many different features is known as the longest living tree.

Unlike the wood patterns we are used to, It has asymmetrical and fascinating vein patterns.

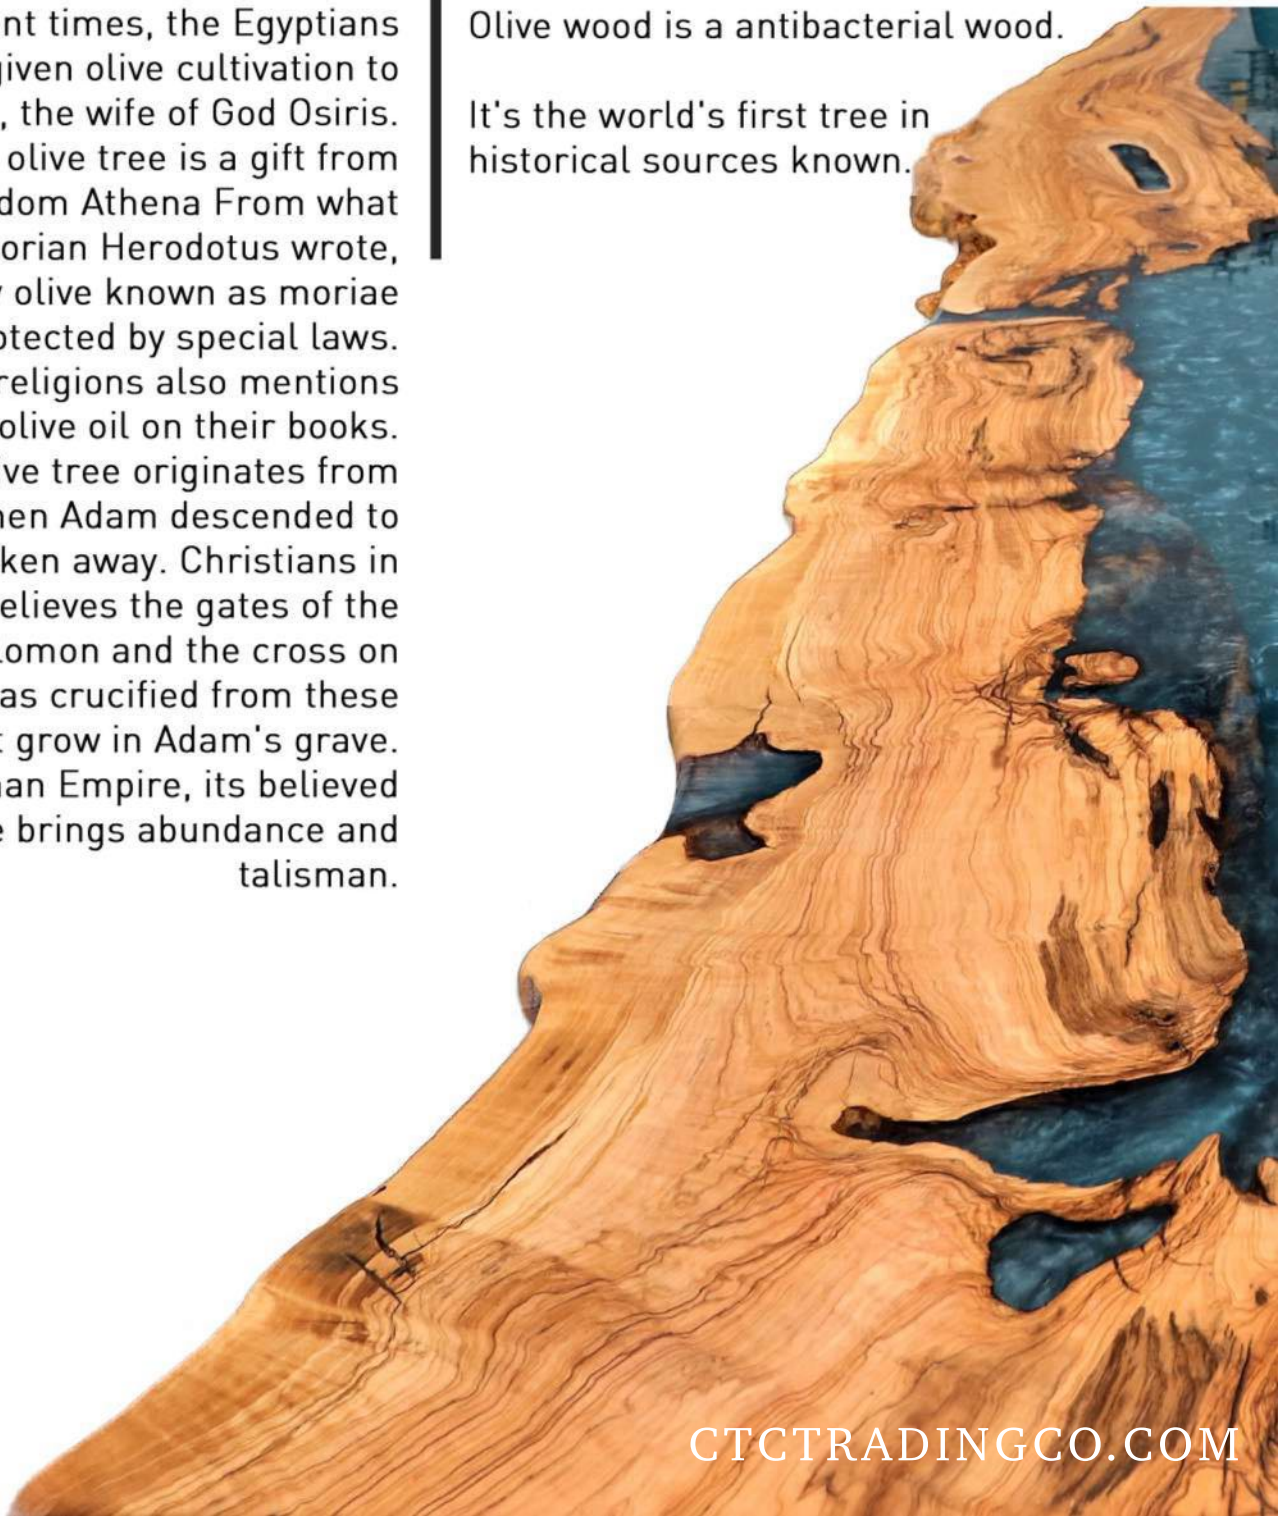

Unlike other wood species, it has a magnificent golden yellow color

Olive wood is a antibacterial wood.

It's the world's first tree in historical sources known.

"Immortal tree" with eternal life power

In ancient times, the Egyptians believed its given olive cultivation to humanity by Isis, the wife of God Osiris. Greeks believed olive tree is a gift from Goddess of Wisdom Athena From what the historian Herodotus wrote, Athena, holy olive known as moriae trees are protected by special laws. Monotheistic religions also mentions olives and olive oil on their books. In Islam, the olive tree originates from the days when Adam descended to earthbeing taken away. Christians in Jerusalem believes the gates of the Temple of Solomon and the cross on which Jesus was crucified from these trees that grow in Adam's grave. In the Ottoman Empire, its believed the olive brings abundance and talisman.

BRUSHED

Wood surfaces in brushed table designs are not covered with epoxy.

It is a model preferred by those who want to feel the texture of wood in areas where wood is located.

Wooden surfaces have a more matte appearance in this model compared to epoxy areas.

A specially produced wood oil from linseed is applied to wooden surfaces on brushed tables.

In order to preserve the vitality of wooden surfaces on the first day, it is necessary to apply wood oil at regular intervals.

Wood oil application is easily applied and wiped.

Table owners can easily do this process.

Can be produced with all color options.

In full tables, the entire table is covered with transparent epoxy.

It's a preferred model which epoxy has a glossy, glassy appearance and shows the materials it has trapped inside more deeply.

In this model, the wood can't be touched.

Full tables does not require maintenance at regular intervals like brushed tables.

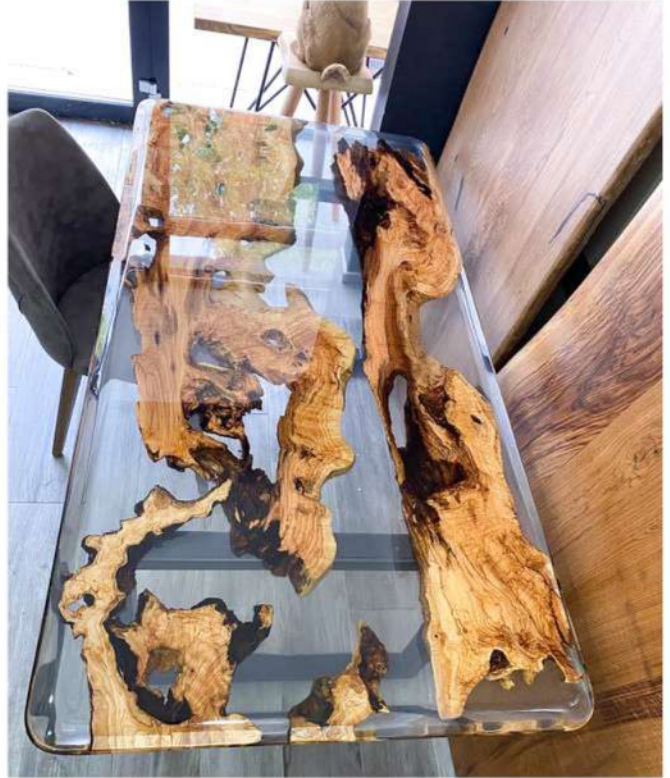

Full tables have a completely glossy appearance. Since wooden surfaces are covered with epoxy, they have the alive and bright appearance provided by epoxy, and the surface patterns become more distinct and alive.

It is resistant to scratches in daily use as long as it doesn't receive severe and hard impacts.

Can be produced with all color options.
